RICHARD VERTLIEB
Executive Director

Dick Vertlieb starts his second season as Executive Director of the Mariners.

Under his leadership in their inaugural campaign, the Mariners became an instant success with the fans and drew 1,338,511 paid admissions. That figure exceeded all previous attendance records by an expansion team and only an equally outstanding season at the gate by fellow expansionist Toronto prevented that mark from being the best all-time expansion record.

Prior to joining the Mariners, Vertlieb served as General Manager of the Golden State Warriors of the National Basketball Association for two seasons.

He developed the Warriors into one of the most successful franchises in the NBA, both on the floor and at the box office.

Vertlieb was honored by The Sporting News as the NBA Executive of the Year in 1975 for providing the front-office leadership as the Warriors swept to the NBA title.

The dynamic Mariner General Manager played a major role in the establishment of the Seattle Sonics of the National Basketball Association, serving as Business Manager during the team's initial season, then becoming General Manager for the second campaign.

His background in professional sports includes serving as a partner in the Seattle Sounders Soccer Club of the North American Soccer League.

Vertlieb also has an extensive background in the business world, as a stock broker and as chief executive officer of a capital venture corporation.

Vertlieb's involvement with the fans and his commitment to providing them with the total sports entertainment package has been a trademark throughout his career in professional sports.

His motto is, "The fan is King',, and every operation in which he has been involved has lived up to that promise.

JAMES (LOU) GORMAN
Director of Baseball Operations

Lou Gorman brings proven front-office ability and expertise to his role as Director of Baseball Operations for the Mariners.

Gorman joined the Mariners prior to the start of their initial season and directed the efforts that resulted in the selection of the 30 athletes, who formed the nucleus of the first team, in the expansion draft.

He came to the Mariners from the Kansas City Royals, where he was a major factor in the development of that team into the American League West champion the past two seasons.

Gorman was in on the start of the Kansas City franchise, joining the Royals in their first season in 1969. He joined the Royals as Director of Minor League Operations and soon added the duties of Director of Scouting.

In 1972, Gorman was named Vice President and Assistant General Manager at Kansas City and held that position until joining the Mariners in 1976.

Prior to his tour of duty at Kansas City, Gorman was with the Baltimore Orioles. He was Director of Minor Leagues from 1964 through 1968 and in his first season the Oriole farm system won the Topps Trophy as the outstanding minor league organization in baseball.

Gorman believes firmly in a strong farm system and is constant in his efforts to develop a contending team from within the organization.

He played professionally in the Philadelphia Phillies organization before turning to front-office duties.

Gorman spent seven years on active duty with the United States Navy and holds the rank of Captain in the Naval Reserve.

DARRELL DEAN JOHNSON
Manager

Darrell Johnson embarks upon his second season as manager of the Mariners, and fifth campaign as a major league skipper, with an outstanding managerial record behind him.

His overall record in the major leagues, with Boston and Seattle, is 284-286, and that includes last season's 64-98 mark with the then expansionist Mariners.

In minor league competition, Johnson's seven-year record as a manager stands at 548-473. That minor league career includes pennant winners at Elmira in the Eastern League in 1966 and Louisville in the International League in 1972.

He also guided playoff winners in 1964 at Rochester in the International League and Pawtucket in the International League in 1973. Pawtucket went on to defeat Tulsa of the American Association in the Junior World Series.

Johnson led the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant in 1975 and extended Cincinnati to seven games before bowing out of the World Series that season. That earned him Major League Manager of the Year honors from The Sporting News.

His first season with the Mariners, Johnson made no predictions regarding number of victories. His only promises were that the M's would execute the fundamentals of baseball and would make constant improvement.

They did both and wound up in sixth place, one-half game ahead of Oakland, in the American League West. Johnson called the 1977 season, "the most enjoyable of my baseball career."

The Mariner manager performed for seven teams over six seasons as a catcher in both the American League and National League and compiled a .234 lifetime batting average in 134 games. He participated in the 1961 World Series with Cincinnati, where a teammate was Mariner coach Vada Pinson.

Johnson was involved in a 17-player trade, when a member of the Baltimore organization, involving the Orioles and the New York Yankees in 1954.

In addition to his 11 years as a manager at both the major league and minor league levels, Johnson has served as a coach with the St. Louis Cardinals (1960-1961), Baltimore (1962), New York Yankees (1967), and Boston Red Sox (1968-1969-1970).

DONALD RAY BRYANT
(Bear)
Coach

Don Bryant begins his sixth season as an aide to Manager Darrell Johnson.

The Mariner bullpen coach first teamed up with Johnson in 1973 at Pawtucket, then moved on to Boston with the present Mariner manager from 1974 through 1976. When Johnson accepted the managerial post with Seattle, Bryant became a member of the coaching staff.

Bryant, an affable giant of a man at 6-6 and 230 pounds, was tagged with the name "Bear" by Chicago Cub coach Pete Reiser.

"Bear" began his professional career in 1960 and performed in the major leagues with Chicago and Houston of the National League. He compiled a .220 lifetime batting average in 109 major league contests.

Bryant was behind the plate when Don Wilson pitched a no-hitter for Houston against Cincinnati on May 1, 1969.

The Mariner coach was born on July 13, 1941 at Jasper, Florida and was an outstanding football, basketball, and baseball player at Paxton high school in Jacksonville.

JAMES FRANKLIN BUSBY
(Jim)
Coach

Jim Busby has been in the major leagues, either as a player or coach, since 1950. His playing career spanned 13 seasons, 12 of them in the American League, and he's been a full-time coach in the major leagues since 1963.

Busby compiled a .262 lifetime batting average while appearing in 1,352 games. Although not noted for his power, Busby tied a major league record by hitting grand-slam home runs in two consecutive games, July 5-6, 1956. In fact, he smashed seven homers in just five days that included the grand-slam achievement.

He was an excellent defensive performer and three times paced American League outfielders in putouts. His best season statistically was in 1953 with Washington, when he hit for a .312 average and drove in 82 runs.

Busby became a full-time coach in 1963 with Houston and stayed with the Astros through the 1967 campaign. He then moved to Atlanta from 1968 through 1975, spent one season with the Chicago White Sox in 1976, and joined the Mariners in their inaugural season in 1977.

The Mariner third base coach was a skilled all-around athlete in high school, but never played baseball. Busby played tailback in football and was a sprinter in track at Corpus Christi, Tex. high school. He was timed in 9.8 in the 100-yard dash.

Busby enrolled at Texas Christian University following his prep career and as a freshman was a tailback for the Horned Frogs and played in the Cotton Bowl on January 1, 1945 against Oklahoma A&M.

He then entered the service and while at Ft. Hood, Texas got his first taste of organized baseball as an outfielder. Upon his discharge, Busby returned to TCU and in 1947 played first base. The following season he moved into center field and compiled a .509 batting average, a Southwest Conference record.

In June, he signed with the White Sox and went on to an outstanding major league career.

Busby's son, James Cameron Busby, is an outfielder in the Pittsburgh Pirate organization and in 1977 hit .286 at Shreveport in the Texas League.

VADA EDWARD PINSON, JR.

Coach

Vada Pinson the Mariners' first base coach, enjoyed a distinguished 18-year career in the major leagues, spending the bulk of that career with the Cincinnati Reds.

Pinson played 11 seasons with Cincinnati and his record verifies he is one of the finest players ever to perform for the National League club. Further proof was his induction into the Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame in 1977.

Pinson is ranked among the top five career leaders in seven categories with the Reds. He is second in at bats (6,335), hits (1,881), and doubles (342); third in games played (1,565), runs (978), and triples (96); and fourth in total bases (2,973).

In addition, Pinson hit safely in 27 consecutive games in 1965 to share the club record with Hall of Famer Edd Roush.

Pinson recorded a lifetime major league batting average of .286, swatted 256 home runs and was credited with 1,170 runs batted in. He played in the 1961 World Series with Cincinnati and twice was selected to play in the Major League All-Star Game (1959 and 1960).

He played in Seattle with the Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League in 1958 and used a .343 season at the plate as a springboard to his successful major league career.

Pinson was also an outstanding defensive outfielder and paced the National League in putouts three times and in fielding percentage twice. He retired as an active player just prior to the start of the 1976 campaign and began his coaching career last season in the Mariners' inaugural year.

He attended McClymonds high school in Oakland, Cal., which produced such outstanding athletes as Frank Robinson, Curt Flood, and Bill Russell.

WESLEY GAY STOCK
(Wes)
Coach

Wes Stock, the Mariners' pitching coach, has come home.

Stock was born in Longview, grew up in Shelton, attended Washington State University, and has his permanent residence in Tacoma.

His professional career began in 1956, he reached the major leagues with Baltimore in 1959 and before its conclusion in 1967, Stock established himself as an outstanding relief pitcher.

The Mariner pitching coach appeared in 321 games, recorded a lifetime mark of 27-13 and owned a 3.60 earned run average. Stock pitched at Baltimore through part of the 1964 campaign, then was traded to Kansas City, where he concluded his playing career in 1967.

In his final season, Stock also served on the coaching staff. He went from there to the New York Mets, where he was the minor league pitching instructor in 1968 and 1969.

Stock then became the pitching coach for the Milwaukee Brewers from 1970 through 1972 before joining the Oakland A's in 1973. He stayed with Oakland through the 1976 season, then joined the Mariners' coaching staff in their inaugural season.

While at Oakland he was a member of World Championship clubs in 1973 and 1974.

As a player, Stock put together two outstanding back-to-back seasons. In 1963, he was 7-0 with Baltimore and the following year posted an 8-3 mark while pitching for the Orioles and Kansas City.

MINOR LEAGUES & SCOUTING

Director of Minor Leagues & Scouting..... Mel Didier
Assistant Director of Minor Leagues & Scouting
..... Steve Schryver
Organizational Pitching Coach..... Mel Stottlemyre
Organizational Infield Coach..... Bill Mazeroski

The Mariners minor league and scouting operation heads into its second season of operation under the direction of Mel Didier. Didier joined the Mariners in December, 1976 after serving one and one-half years as a special assignment scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers and six years as Director of Scouting for the Montreal Expos.

This year the Mariners minor league system will expand to three teams, with San Jose in the Pacific Coast League and Stockton in the California League joining Bellingham of the Northwest League.

In 1977, Seattle's first minor league club, the Bellingham Mariners, won the Northwest League Championship under the guidance of rookie manager Bobby Floyd.

Hank Zacharias

Their efforts are augmented by membership in the Major League Scouting Bureau, headquartered in Newport Beach, California. The bureau has 66 scouts in the field supplying input on prospects to the Mariners and 17 other major league teams.

MARINERS RADIO/TELEVISION

Dave Niehaus and Ken Wilson will once again provide the play-by-play commentary for Seattle Mariner baseball on both radio and television.

The "Voices of the Mariners" added to the excitement of the game for Mariner fans in 1977 with their accurate and entertaining reports. In addition, the obvious compatability of the team made Mariner broadcasts an enjoyable experience for the listeners.

Niehaus has been working American League action since 1969, when he joined the broadcast team of the California Angels. He remained part of that team unitl joining the Mariners in 1977.

He also has broadcast Los Angeles Ram football from 1966 through 1973, and UCLA football and basketball from 1973 through 1976.

Wilson's background includes the play-by-play assignment for Hawaii Islanders baseball from 1970 through 1972 and serving as the announcer for the Cincinnati Swords in the American Hockey League from 1972 through 1974.

Prior to joining the Mariners, Wilson spent two and one-half years in Honolulu, where he was employed by KGU radio and additionally handled the weekend sports assignment on KHON-TV.

The Mariner radio network includes 15 stations in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho. The Mariners will broadcast 170 games, all 162 regular season contests and eight exhibition games from spring training.

Mariner telecasts will be carried on KING-TV (Channel 5) with 18 road contests on the television schedule.
